Yorktown Auxiliary Police Disbanded over Safety Concerns

By Rick Pezzullo

A longtime tradition in the Town of Yorktown has come to an abrupt end.

The Yorktown Auxiliary Police, described as the “eyes and ears” of the Yorktown Police Department, were disbanded June 30 by Police Chief Robert Noble after being in existence for more than 60 years.

Rick Davin, an Auxiliary Police member for 33 years and captain of the volunteer force since 2004, said, without any advanced warning, he was informed by Noble the Auxiliary Police were being eliminated for safety reasons.

“It’s disheartening after all this time,” said Davin, a retired Verizon worker who volunteered about 30 hours a month. “Everyone was kind of surprised and saddened. It was so sudden.”

Noble, who was appointed chief last September, stood firmly behind his decision to oust the Auxiliary Police, which currently had five members but had as many as 25 in the past.

“The decision to disband the Auxiliary Police was made by me as chief of police. The decision was made because of the great security concerns for police officers,” Noble said. “On a normal daily basis the media report instances when police officers are the subject of attacks, some of which have resulted in police fatalities.

Catalina Puts Pressure on Con Ed to Pave Roadways

By Rick Pezzullo

Peekskill Mayor Frank Catalina is putting pressure on Con Edison to repave several roadways in the city that were dug up as part of a gas line replacement project.

In a letter sent to a Con Edison official last week, Catalina stated he has been “pummeled with complaints” for about a year from motorists who have experienced flat tires and other damage from potholes on certain roads.

Some of the roads affected include North Division Street, Cortlandt Street, James Street, North James Street, Brown Street, South Street, Crompond

Road, Constant Avenue, Park Street, First Street, Hudson Avenue and Union Avenue.

“While we understand the magnitude and scope of this project and, while we have been promised the roads would be completely repaved after the work was completed, that has not been the case in several areas of the city,” Catalina wrote.

“I realize the City Manager and City Engineer have been in communication with you but this situation is nearly out of control and I cannot sit idly by until someone ‘gets around to it.’ Therefore,

Since the Auxiliary Police are uniform police officers they can become the subject of attacks. However, the Auxiliary Police are not armed as police officers, putting them, as well as other police officers, in very vulnerable positions.”

“Accordingly, I believe it was prudent to disband the Auxiliary Police,” Noble added. “I would like to thank them for their many years of contributions, especially Rick Davin, who put in a great deal of time and effort into the Auxiliary Police. I do strongly believe that I made the correct decision. It is a safety concern in this day and age.”

The Yorktown Auxiliary Police did traffic control at about 25 events a year, according to Davin, and patrolled parks, school facilities and other public areas in town Friday and Saturday night from 7 to midnight in marked Auxiliary Police vehicles.

Last year, Davin said former Police Chief Daniel McMahon asked the Auxiliary Police to inventory approximately 500 street lights in town, where they discovered 25% were out of service and subsequently replaced.

“I would like to think we were always a help to officers, helping free them up to do paperwork and other things,” said Davin, who noted the Auxiliary Police had a small budget of about $8,000.

In Westchester County, there are currently 12 other active Auxiliary Police units, including in Peekskill and Croton-on-Hudson. Five of those units have armed officers.

“If there was a real threat to unarmed auxiliary officers, why would New York City still have them?” Davin asked.

The Yorktown Town Board was told of Noble’s intentions on June 27. Councilman Tom Diana, a former police officer, said Noble had the authority to do away with the Auxiliary Police and the board was comfortable with his reasoning.

“They definitely had a function here in town and they did a great job, but we have to go with what the chief recommended. It’s his department,” Diana said. “They don’t really have any protection. It’s a shame our world has come to that. It used to be much simpler.”

I am respectfully demanding your immediate response to the City Manager and City Engineer’s inquiries as to your timetable to repave those streets that have been excavated by Con Edison, within 10 days,” the mayor continued. “Should we not receive a timely and responsive reply, I will direct the City Attorney to draft the necessary documentation to declare the situation you have created, to constitute a State of Emergency in the affected areas and I will direct the city to repave the areas directly or through approved outside contractors, and seek reimbursement, voluntarily or through litigation, against Con Edison.”

Catalina’s correspondence generated a response from Con Edison.

“We have entered an agreement with the City of Peekskill’s engineer to have the municipality handle repaving 12 streets where Con Edison has completed necessary gas main replacement and are continuing discussion for the remaining streets. This will make the repaving work move quicker as we move toward completion of this major project to upgrade gas service and improve safety,” said Philip O’Brien, assistant director of media relations for Con Edison.

Taking Care of Shoulder Pain

Q: I’ve been experiencing discomfort when I lift my arm over my head, most often brushing my hair and putting dishes in the cupboard. What could be wrong?

A: Shoulder pain is often because of tendon inflammation or tear, dislocation, arthritis or a broken bone. If you feel pain when you put on your coat or reach into the back seat of the car from the front, you may have a rotator cuff injury. The rotator cuff is a cradle of muscles and tendons that lets you rotate your arm in a full arc. This intricate structure makes it possible for you to do everyday activities like reaching and lifting; you also rely on your rotator cuff while swinging a tennis racquet or golf club or throwing a ball. Injury can result from a fall or lifting something heavy – or it might just be overuse. I often see rotator cuff problems in patients older than 35, as tendons lose elasticity with age.

Q: What should I do?

A: If you’re experiencing pain, it’s important to see a doctor. A thorough examination is needed to determine the cause of your pain. An orthopedist will check for symptoms such as swelling, weakness, tenderness and any deformities. Additionally, imaging with MRI and X-ray will assist in a diagnosis. Treatment options will vary. Most often rest, modified activities, and physical therapy will be needed. To reduce inflammation and pain, medication or injections, such as cortisone shots, may be used. Surgery will be required to resolve some shoulder problems.

Q: What can I expect if I need surgery?

A: If there is a tear, I’ll recommend surgery to repair it. Using a minimally invasive arthroscopic technique, I’m able to repair a rotator cuff as an outpatient procedure and patients can expect to be home within a few hours. For more serious problems such as severe arthritis, degenerative joint disease, or chronic rotator cuff deficiency, shoulder replacement surgery is often necessary. Patients can expect to leave the hospital after one or two days. Arm movement is limited for about six weeks while the tissue around the new joint heals. Most patients return to normal activities after three months, and shoulder replacements typically last a lifetime.

Did you know?

Each year, approximately 600,000 Americans have rotator cuff surgery.*

DOT Agrees to Change Traffic Light at Dangerous Yorktown Intersection

By Rick Pezullo

The state Department of Transportation has agreed to remove an existing flashing signal light at the intersection of routes 118 and 129 in Yorktown and replace it with a three-color traffic signal.

State Senator Terrence Murphy (R/Yorktown) announced last week he and the Yorktown Town Board had convinced the DOT to conduct a study of the area to determine if a change was necessary in what many residents felt was a dangerous place for motorists to maneuver.

“This is another example of Yorktown’s local and state government officials working together to address concerns of our residents. This light will improve the safety of a dangerous intersection and will make it a friendlier section of the road for motorists,” Murphy said.

Yorktown Supervisor Michael Grace said he was well aware of the problems the intersection currently posed.

“Living around the corner from this dangerous intersection I have witnessed near misses firsthand,” Grace said. “As a town board, we continue to address potential hazards on our roadways and work with our partners on the state level to facilitate real solutions. I want to thank Senator Murphy for his partnership in solving this matter as well as to DOT officials for recognizing the concerns of our neighbors.”

Added Yorktown Councilman Tom Diana, “This has been a long time coming. Due to the limited sight lines at the intersection, I am surprised there have not been more accidents there. I think the new traffic light will have a positive effect on reducing the number of fenderbenders in the area.”

Highway Superintendent Dave Paganelli also welcomed the news, stating, “Anytime the State DOT improves our roadways is a good thing. This light will not cost local taxpayers money and bring a needed safety enhancement to residents and visitors of our town.”

Yorktown Supervisor Michael Grace (center) and Councilman Ed Lachterman (right) were on hand Saturday for the grand opening of the Pet Valu store in the Triangle Shopping Center.

Longest Running Italian Feast Takes Over Verplanck This Week

By Rick Pezzullo

It's unique, it's a tradition, and it's back this week in the hamlet of Verplanck for five days for the 95th year.

Starting on Wednesday, July 12 and running through Sunday, July 16, Eighth Street will be the place to be for the annual Our Lady of Mount Carmel Italian Feast, the longest running feast in the Hudson Valley.

The free admission event on 155 Highland Avenue at 8th Street, which ends with a bang Sunday night at 11 p.m. with a spectacular fireworks show on the Hudson River from world champion Garden State Fireworks, has something for everyone.

There's rides and games for youngsters, casino-type games, a 50/50 raffle and beer and wine for adults, nightly musical entertainment and, of course, scrumptious food. Visitors can choose from second-to-none sausage and peppers, Zep-poles, pizza, pasta, broccoli rabe, gyros, cannoli, ice cream and much more. No one leaves the feast hungry.

On Wednesday at 7 p.m., the Miss Italia Mount Carmel Pageant will be held with three age categories: Little Miss (8-12), Teen (13-17) and Miss (18-26). On

Call for Entries for Contests to be Judged at September 8-10 Grange Fair

The Yorktown Grange Association has issued its call for entries for the annual agricultural and homemaking competitions that are a signature attraction of its legendary Grange Fair, scheduled for September 8-10.

Dating to the early 20th Century, the 93-year-old destination event continues to hold a special place in local lore as Westchester County's only authentic agricultural fair. The Grange Fair is a three-day, throwback celebration of the Hudson Valley's deep roots in farm culture: Livestock and produce exhibits are planted alongside carnival rides, midway games, live entertainment on the main stage, and abundant food and beverage.

This year's down-home theme of "A Family Fair Where Farm Meets Fun" is roundly reflected in the cornucopia of categories contestants can enter.

In addition to the staunch regulars who enter the Grange Fair contests each year, first-time contestants of all ages and interests are encouraged by the Yorktown Grange Fair Association to join in the fun for a chance to walk away with coveted awards, as well as bragging rights, in their favorite areas of interest.

A 22-page official contest booklet includes details and rules of each category. There are nine major areas of competition, each with multiple sub-categories, such as Livestock (Goats, Llama & Pigs, etc.); Produce (Home Garden, Veggie Creatures, Biggest Pumpkin, etc.); Flower (Design, Photo, Horticulture, etc.); and Needlework (Crochet & Tatting, Knitting, Embroidery, etc.). Other contests include Poultry, Baking, Photography, Art After 55, and Lego Show.

The contest booklet is available for viewing and downloading (in PDF format) at YorktownGrangeFair.org.

For the first time in its history, the Yorktown Grange Fair is pre-selling general admission tickets. As in past years, fairgoers also can pay at the gate. For more information on how to buy tickets prior to the Fair, contact the Grange at FairOffice@optonline.net.

Fiscal Health of Yorktown is Strong

To the Editor:

As reported, the unrestricted general fund balance has grown significantly under the fiscal policies and management of the Town. There can be no debate that this is great news for Yorktown taxpayers. There will be NO tax increase this year. What is particularly noteworthy is that unrestricted fund balance, now almost 11 million dollars, has grown while the tax levy has remained flat over the last five years, with two consecutive years of actual tax decreases totaling over a million dollars. There is nothing "artificial" about the fund balance. It is real and a result of good fiscal planning by the entire Town Board. The sour grapes accusation from the local Democratic co-Chair Krowe that the fund balance growth came at the cost of deferring infrastructure investment has no basis in fact. As to infrastructure investment, the Town has actually funded and completed major infrastructure projects. A small sampling of which are: the rehabilitation of the Baptist Church Road bridge; the Croton Heights Road bridge, Revere

Drive culvert repair, Lexington Avenue culvert repair(all the foregoing on time and under budget), Sparkle Lake dam rehabilitation (on time and under budget); gas generator for the YCCC; numerous building repairs; digitization of archived town records (on time and under budget); construction and outfitting of an Emergency Operations Center (significantly under budget); purchase of capital equipment including Highway 8 plow vehicles, Vac-all truck, paving patch truck, roll-off container truck; chipper, bucket truck, back-hoe, mower, dump truck and several pick-up trucks for parks, new back-hoe for the Water department, new 3 million gallon water tank, new Sewer department vehicles and the re-establishment of a scheduled replenishment of new police cruisers.

The Town has not deferred any necessary and/or wanting infrastructure needs. The only "infrastructure" project deferred was the water meter replacement project which was slated to cost the Water district several millions of dollars. After a proper and full vetting the purported return on investment savings was proved to be non-existent. Water meters are now replaced via attrition on transfer of home ownership at NO cost to the district.

Just recently the Town announced an in excess of 2.2 million dollar allocation toward road paving. The criticism, which always seems at the ready, is that this is an election year ploy. Quiet to the contrary. The Town ended the 2015 fiscal year with approximately a $7 million unrestricted fund balance. However, we could not significantly increase the road paving budget in the proposed 2017 budget as we always think years ahead, and we knew there were additional culvert repairs that needed to be done and that the current garbage contract was expiring at the end of 2017. Both were issues that could easily and significantly deplete the 7 million dollar 2015 yearend fund balance. Given these possible adverse occurrences and faced with a tax cap of some fraction of one percent, prudence dictated that we keep our paving budget for 2017 steady until we had better resolutions for the possible significant demands on the unrestricted fund balance and had the 2016 fiscal yearend figures in hand. If Mr. Krowe recalls, the Town subsequent to the passing of the 2017 budget received 3.4 million dollars in State grants for the culvert repairs and we feel confident that the garbage contract will not significantly increase. This in addition to having a positive 3 million dollar variance (2.5 million in reduced spending over fiscal year 2016) we can now with confidence of not offending the tax cap this year or in the near future make the investment in road repairs and repaving on an annual basis.

This year is only the beginning. The point is the fiscal health of the town is a result of careful and prudent planning while funding and moving the town forward.

The fiscal health of the Town is great news for everyone willing to understand its ramifications and I assure you more good news will be forthcoming

Invasive Species Post Threat to Environment and Economy

To the Editor:

This week is Invasive Species Awareness Week. From July 9th through July 16th, local groups around New York State are working together to fight these invasive invaders by hosting events (like lake association Water Chestnut "hand pull" events and the Friends of the Old Croton Aqueduct's invasive plant removal event on Croton-on-Hudson's Old Croton Aqueduct Trail). We are also trying to spread the word that now is the time to take informed action to prevent further spread of invasive species – particularly in New York's waterways.

Aquatic invasive species (AIS) pose a significant threat to our environment and local economy. As part of the Envision Cortlandt townwide survey during our sustainable master plan process, 85% of the community indicated its desire for the Town to preserve our precious ecosystems and habitats so Cortlandt can become more sustainable. As part of its goal to protect wildlife and maintain biodiversity, the Town set forth a specific policy (among many) in its Plan to protect and/or restore natural areas including water resources. AIS (like hydrilla, Eurasian watermilfoil and Water Chestnut) compete with native aquatic vegetation and are a nuisance to recreational activities and wildlife. Left unchecked, AIS will rapidly multiply until the entire waterway is choked with a dense canopy and can no longer support fishing, boating or swimming.

For the last few years, organizations and communities in New York have worked together to address invasive species through coordination, prevention, education, detection, and management initiatives. Clearwater's Invasive Species Program Manager now offers free aquatic invasive species training to lake associations around the Lower Hudson Valley and can cover AIS identification, management options, survey techniques and spread prevention efforts. Millions of dollars are spent every year in New York to manage invasive infestations, but studies show that investments in prevention yield the greatest economic return since AIS is extremely difficult (and expensive) to manage and mitigate once it has infected an area.

In the Croton River, herbicide treatments have been approved by the New York State Department of Environmental Conservation to begin on July 5th to treat a hydrilla infestation. That treatment – using the aquatic herbicide fluridone [trade name: Sonar Genesis] – is intended to control the growth and spread of the highly invasive AIS plant hydrilla in order to reduce the plant's long term impacts on recreation, ecology and water quality. Those treatments (which are used in extremely low concentrations well below NYS Department of Health and US Environmental Protection Agency recommended limits and are safe for drinking water) will likely continue until mid-October 2017. This work is crucial if we are to preserve the Croton River for recreation and to keep the infestation from spreading.

As citizens, we all have an important role to play. If you find an AIS in your waterbody, please report it to your nearest DEC office. Boaters must inspect and decontaminate their boats, propellers, trailers and fishing equipment before moving their boat into a new lake or river. Our Town and Village must continue to help prevent the spread of AIS and work in collaboration with NYS agencies, other elected officials, landowners, non-governmental groups and additional stakeholders to keep AIS in check and to prevent it from spreading to other lakes and rivers. Please consider volunteering for your local PRISM or to one of the many environmental groups in Cortlandt and Croton to help stop the spread of invasive species in our area.

Sincerely,

JAMES F. CREIGHTON

(Jim Creighton is a Cortlandt Planning Board Member, a member of Cortlandt's Sustainable Comprehensive Plan Committee and its Implementation Committee, President of the Fallsburg Fishing & Boating Club and a candidate for Cortlandt Town Board)

Our Goal is Zero.

We've come a long way in getting kids covered and giving them a healthy start in life - with regular checkups, dental and eye care, immunizations, and a doctor who knows their name.

But today, there are still more than 100,000 children in New York State who do not have health insurance – or the care they need to grow up happy, healthy, and strong.

It's a troubling statistic that we can change.

That's why Fidelis Care is joining with New Yorkers everywhere to tell parents that learning about quality, affordable health insurance is just a call or click away.

Yorktown Cleaners Yorktown

By Neal Rentz

Yorktown Cleaners had been in operation for many years before Somers resident Debbie Jeung took ownership of the business in April.

Jeung said she wanted to continue providing the establishment's services, including quality dry cleaning, shoe repair and tailoring at reasonable prices. She discussed her new business last week, joined by her son, Philip Seung.

Jeung said she wanted to continue the shoe repair services at the establishment. Tailoring services are offered for men's suits, dresses, and such household items as curtains. Jeung does the dry cleaning and some small tailoring work, while the shoe repair and major tailoring jobs are performed by specialists.

"Her main focus is on dry cleaning," Jeung's son noted.

Prior to taking ownership of Yorktown Cleaners, Jeung was in the beauty salon business. She owned an establishment in Stamford, CT and was a manger of a salon in Cross River.

The Mailbox Can Boost Curb Appeal

When was the last time you actually wrote a letter to a friend with a pen on paper, placed it in an envelope, sealed it, affixed a stamp, left it in your mailbox, and raised the red metal flag to let the mailman know that you were making use of the U.S. Postal Service?

For most of us, that activity has completely vanished, and the mailbox today serves mainly to receive bills, junk mail and promotional pieces from politicians.

Oh, wait, the mailbox also serves to notify drivers-by of the number assigned to our house and perhaps our family name. That is, for most people. As for me, I no longer have an individual mailbox, living as I do in a large condo building with a tiny mailbox slot which I open with a key. But that's okay, I guess, considering that the primary function of the mailbox, even its necessity, has diminished significantly since the advent of the Internet, Facebook, Twitter and texting.

It's worth noting that FedEx and UPS, with their express mail and delivery of packages, which come directly to our doors bypassing the mailbox altogether, is responsible for a 30 percent decline in the use of the U.S. Postal Service in just 10 years.

Does this all mean that the mailbox will eventually disappear along with the horse and buggy that originally delivered the mail?

It would be a shame for that to happen, considering that, since the 1860s when the postal service as we know it originated, the mailbox has become an accepted, even expected, institution and today offers yet another opportunity to create curb appeal, distinguishing the look of our property from that of our neighbors.

But that wasn't always the case.

At the 18th century home I recently sold, I had a large "tunnel" shaped mailbox, and both my wife and I loved it because it held so much, including packages. And when we received all of our business mail there before the age of e-mail, it was frequently stuffed to the brim.

I learned that this particular style of mailbox was designed by a postal worker named Roy Jorolemen in 1915 and was soon adopted by postal regulations for universal use. By 1923, when it became mandatory for every household to have a mailbox, that shape dominated the roadside landscape for many years.

I found photographs of that house from the 1920s taken from the vantage point of the same sturdy mailbox that remains there to this day, protected through the years by layers of paint, a replaced wooden bottom and a sturdy metal pole supporting it.

In 1978, postal authorities approved a "contemporary" mailbox specification for alternative designs and, today, our local post offices don't care much about how our mailboxes look. In checking a while back with my local postmistress, I was told that the only requirements now are to place the bottom of the box 3-1/2 ft. to 4 ft. from ground level so the door can be easily accessible from postal vehicles, and it must be directly on the line of the curb, even if you don't have a curb. Also, a mailbox should have a signaling device, that red metal flag, to indicate mail is ready to be picked up.

Because we now have all this leeway in mailbox design, a new cottage industry has developed where specialty mailboxes can be designed to a homeowner's whim. Design options range from a John Deere tractor or puppy dog, to an exact replica of one's own home and, of course, they are ordered online.

Lately mailbox design has been influenced by the increased risk of vandalism with mailboxes made of composite plastic or heavy-gauge steel or aluminum plate. Some composite mailboxes made of resilient polymer plastics and mounted on ground spikes can withstand severe impacts from baseball bats or even being run over by a vehicle. Also, you may have noticed that some homeowners have built solid brick or stone pillars on each side of their driveways with a metal box lodged securely inside one of them.

Whatever the style of a mailbox, its look and upkeep are very much a factor in the perceived curb appeal of a property. It's what a passer-by – or prospective homebuyer – sees even before catching a glimpse of the house. So, its appearance is something to be considered.

*For the Apple Bank BONUS Savings account, interest earned on daily balances of $2,500 or more at these tiers: $2,500-$24,999: .75% Annual Percentage Yield (APY), $25,000 and up: .75% APY. There is no interest paid on balances of $0-$2,499. APYs disclosed effective as of March 7, 2017. APYs may be changed at any time at the Bank's discretion. There is a minimum of $2,500 required to open the Apple Bank BONUS Savings account. $2,500 minimum daily balance is required to avoid $10 monthly maintenance fee. Fees may reduce earnings. Funds used to open this account cannot be from an existing Apple Bank account. Maximum deposit amount is $3,000,000 per household. Special bonus feature: A .25% simple interest rate bonus will be paid on each anniversary date of account opening on the lowest balance for that year (anniversary date to anniversary date). No bonus is paid if the account balance is less than $2,500 on the anniversary date. Additional deposits during a given anniversary period do not affect the bonus interest payment. Deposits made to the account on any anniversary date will be used to calculate the lowest account balance for the next anniversary period. The bonus interest is calculated on the lowest balance on deposit from one anniversary date to the next anniversary date. Simple interest rate bonus is subject to change at any time after first anniversary date of account opening. Hypothetical example of how bonus works: Assume an account is opened on January 12, 2017 for $50,000. A $10,000 withdrawal is made on July 12, 2017. No other withdrawals are made prior to the January 12, 2018 anniversary date. The low balance is now $40,000, so $100 in bonus interest will be paid on January 12, 2018.

LAKELAND'S WALSH SETTLED FOR NOTHING LESS THAN SECTION 1 TITLE TWO-SPORT STAR NAMED PUTNAM/NWE ATHLETE OF YEAR

By Ray Gallagher
Examiner Sports Editor
@Directrays

When it comes to Lakeland High softball, two names continually stood out in the pantheon of Hornet greats: Both Janine Turner and Janine O'Connor were inducted into the Lakeland Hall of Fame back in 2000, the second installment of Hornet inductees. Turner, perhaps the most dominant pitcher of her era in the wee 90s, and O'Connor, the slugger with more sizzle than any Hornet ever, will be forced to make some room in the assemblage for outgoing senior P Colleen Walsh; the recently-minted 2017 Putnam/NWE Female Athlete of the Year, and the latest edition to the Mount Rushmore of Lakeland soft ballers.

Walsh, a two-sport star, who also hustled her way into the heart of softball coaches Joe Chiara and Steve Fallo, as well as girls' hoop Coach Miranda Lustig, narrowly nipped several others, who were strongly considered for the honor, including Somers senior lax/hoops player Livy Rosenzweig, Carmel junior golfer Lauren Peter, Put Valley's three-sport senior Antonia Hoyos, Panas three-sport senior Carlyn Mucci, Ossining senior hoops standout Andra Espinoza-Hunter and Yorktown lax/volleyballer Michelle Seger.

Walsh, who went 18-2 with 176 strikeouts in 130 innings, admitted her five-year varsity career would have been deficient without winning Lakeland's first Section 1 championship since 1984, so she made sure her mission was accomplished when she defeated Eastchester, 15-5, for the Class A title and a venture into the state playoffs where the 24-2 Hornets would fall in the NYSPHSAA quarterfinals to eventual champion Maine Endwell.

The Sacred Heart-bound Walsh hit .467 this season and crushed five homers after hitting just one in her previous four years combined, and drove in 32 runs, three more than her sophomore and junior seasons combined (29). She added a team-best 42 runs scored.

While Turner pitched as well as any Hornet in history, and O'Connor slugged with the best of them, Walsh hit and pitched at an unprecedented rate, according to Coach Fallo, who has been with the program for more than two decades.

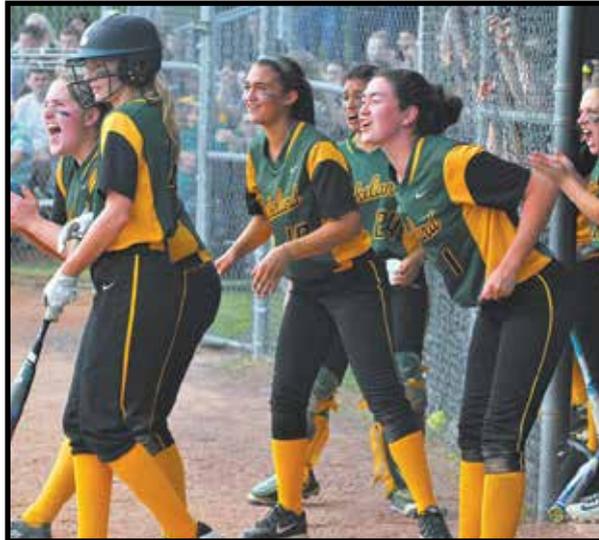

"Colleen is a terrific student in the classroom," Fallo said of Walsh, who sports 3.7 GPA and carried an A.P./honors workload of classes. "She has the dedication, work ethic, drive, teamwork and that will to do whatever it takes to win or give your team a chance to win."

Lakeland chances were as strong as ever with Walsh in the circle, despite the fact that today's softball lineups trump those of yesteryear: Meaning Walsh faced the toughest competition of any Lakeland windmill, according to Fallo.

"No disrespect to Janine, who was a warrior on the mound, but I would give the nod to Colleen because of the way the girls' game has evolved since the early 80's, especially in regard to how many good hitters there are now. The lineups of today - 1-through-9 - are a lot different than the 80's. Kids are playing year-round now and are much better these days."

Walsh was also a superior hitter to just about any pitcher in Lakeland history, according to Fallo.

"Colleen made herself into one of the best hitters in Section 1," Fallo said. "Without a doubt, Colleen was a huge reason we won the Section 1 title. The bigger the game, the better she pitched. You don't win unless you have a stud on the mound. We have had one for five years

A leader on and off the field, Colleen Walsh (1) could rally the troops at a moment's notice.

Lakeland senior Colleen Walsh was also a hoops force for the Hornets over the course of three varsity seasons.

Prolific at the plate this season, too, Lakeland's Colleen Walsh was a complete player this season.

every time she toed the rubber. Her career numbers are off the charts."

Her career pitching stats are unparalleled: 68 wins against 18 losses, 680 K's, 573 innings pitched, 23 shutouts, four no-hitters, and one perfect game. and 111 games played; all school records.

She bumped her career batting average by more than 50 points this season by hitting to the tune of .467 BA (42 hits, 42 runs, 32 RBI and just 2 K's in 102 at-bats) and finished her career as a .378 hitter (95 runs, 131 hits, 73 RBI and just 13 whiffs in 374 at-bats).

"As a teammate, all the players know that

Colleen will always have their back," Fallo said. "She leads by example when she steps on the field, and in that circle she plays the toughest position day in and day out. She will be remembered here at Lakeland as one of the all-time great athletes and competitors, male or female, for both softball and basketball.

None of that would have amounted to a hill of beans, had the Hornets not gone on their championship-clinching run in early June, according to Walsh, a humble kid by nature, who was adored by teammates.

"Honestly, my high school career would not have been complete without a section title," Walsh admitted. "We have accomplished a lot as a team but that was something we worked towards for a few years. We worked hard all season and that was our ultimate goal. It meant a lot to me that we won during my senior year, I couldn't have asked for a more spectacular way to end my four years of high school."

There's about 15 or so Hornet teammates who would likely agree with the need to win it all this season, and Walsh, who went out like John Elway (on top of her game), was the choice for Athlete of the Year in and about Northern Westchester/Putnam region.

Cortlandt American Little Leaguers celebrate their third-straight District 33 championship last Thursday at Seabolt Field where the unit added a 12-U banner to the 11-U and 10-U titles they secured in 2016 and 2015, respectively, after a 9-1 win over Croton in a rematch of last week's pitchers duel, which CALL won 3-0.
